

QUICK REFERENCE

Google Local Services (LSA)

Talking points and FAQs for confident client conversations

30-Second Talk Track

Google Local Services by CINC helps eligible real estate professionals show up when buyers and sellers search Google for a local agent. Calls route to CINC, where we qualify the opportunity and provide a warm handoff to the agent.

How It Works

01 Consumer searches A buyer or seller searches Google for a local agent.	02 CINC qualifies The call routes to CINC, where the opportunity is qualified.	03 Agent connects Qualified prospects get a warm handoff to the agent.
---	--	--

Core Talking Points

- High-intent channel. The consumer is actively searching for a local real estate professional.
- Direct conversation. The opportunity begins with an inbound call or text message.
- Qualified by CINC. Our team qualifies the opportunity before a live transfer.
- Google controls placement. Never guarantee a ranking, impression share, or lead volume.
- Results vary by market. Demand, competition, profile quality, reviews, etc.
- Approved commercial language. “No upfront lead cost. CINC shares in qualifying closed success.”

Client Readiness

- Google Business Profile owner access
- A publicly visible, Google-verified business address
- At least five Google reviews
- Brokerage errors and omissions insurance through an ACORD form

CLIENT CONVERSATION SUPPORT

Frequently Asked Questions

Keep answers brief, accurate, and focused on what is currently approved.

What happens when someone calls?

The call routes to CINC. Our team qualifies the opportunity and provides a warm handoff to the agent.

Who is eligible?

Clients must meet the readiness requirements on page one, be in an available market, and complete Google's applicable approval process.

Is top placement guaranteed?

No. Google controls which profiles appear and their order through its auction and profile-quality systems.

How many calls or leads should the client expect?

There is no guaranteed volume. Results vary by market demand, competition, profile quality, available inventory, and Google's auction.

How long will setup take?

Timing varies based on document readiness and Google's screening process. Do not promise a launch date before approval is complete.

Can teams or clients in multiple markets participate?

Team structure and multi-market participation must be reviewed during eligibility based on Google's rules, licensing, and available coverage.

How does the pricing work?

There are no upfront costs. If a referred opportunity results in a closed transaction, Agent Pronto/CINC collects a 35% referral fee.